The Commandments of Language

Annet Hon Shu Chu

Annet Chu's creative writing journey began randomly as she was completing an assignment for one of her Master of Arts – Integrated Studies courses. Some of her writing interests include poetry, flash fiction, and biography. As a writer, her goal is to become her readers' entertainer and inspirer. When the weather permits, Annet likes to comfortably camp under a cherry tree and passionately document her life through the written word.

I am the wizardry of a language.

I am infamously tedious and heavy, but be confident that I will bring you mastery.

I know I am persistent, but that's because I have my reasons.

I am guarded like a sacred text and am known for my logical success.

I pledge to enchant you with the wizardry of a language – your grammar book.
